2005 Cabernet Sauvignon

Philosophy

Since our pioneering effort planting Cabernet Sauvignon in 1974, the Sierra Vista Cabernet Sauvignons have been known for exceptional richness and intense fruit. Ripe black-cherry fruit character is the result of leaf pulling and hedging to open the vines. A rigorous program of mildew control is always necessary to keep the Cabernet Sauvignon clean at our high elevation. Twenty-two months in 50% new French oak barrels adds complexity to the 100% Cabernet Sauvignon fruit.

Vineyard Source

Planted in 1982, these vines are on a volcanic based soil on a west-facing slope. There are two blocks, one is trellised with bilateral cordons and the other is quadrilateral. They are contiguous to one another but due to the trellising, they ripen at different times. The fruit quality from these vines is excellent, with wonderful traditional Cabernet Sauvignon character.

2005 Vintage

We had an early, very warm, spring leading to early bud-break. This was followed by several inches of rain, some snow, sleet and hail with colder temperatures into mid April. It wasn't until a warm spell in late May that we started seeing significant shoot growth in the vineyard. Summer was unusual with a month of cooler than average temperatures followed by a record breaking hot July and then a cool down into September. We started harvesting in the third week of September – much later than the last several years but only a week behind our average start date..

Winemaker's Tasting Notes

This deeply colored, fruit-forward Cabernet Sauvignon has characteristics of black cherry, plum, currant, and blackberry combined with well integrated French and American oak from the barrel aging process.

Well structured, firm, yet smooth tannins characterize this full-bodied Cabernet, while hints of chocolate, coffee, and a slight leathery earthiness combine with the fruit to round out the palate.

This Cabernet compliments red meat dishes well and additionally can be an excellent stand alone choice for the cold season. Drink now through 2015.

The warm days and cool nights of Sierra Vista Winery's altitude influenced vineyard provide an excellent location for the maturation of this Bordeaux varietal.
